

ACEC WI Conduit Fund, ACEC WisPAC, & ACEC PAC

Why it's essential to contribute to each

These formidable programs advance and protect interests of the consulting engineering industry and enhances your firm's bottom line. It's important we have a voice in both Washington and Wisconsin. By participating in all three of these programs, we increase the likelihood that our concerns are considered.

It is imperative to participate in all three government advocacy programs. Here are the reasons why:

ACEC WI Conduit Fund

*Contributing to Democracy -
Designing a Better Tomorrow*

- Supports local, county, and state races
- Contributions directed by the individual to campaign of choice
- Provides credit to the individual, the firm, and ACEC WI
- Demonstrates commitment to the democratic process
- Enhances the image of the consulting engineer and ACEC WI
- Invests in pro-business candidates
- Keeps candidates favorable to the consulting engineering industry in office
- Positions the industry on state/local regulations and legislation
- Develops and maintains political relationships
- Puts ACEC WI and its members on an even footing with competing interests
- Tool for political involvement

ACEC WisPAC

*Support the Business of Our Industry
Support the ACEC WisPAC*

- Supports state races
- Contributions directed by ACEC WI Legislative Committee
- Provides credit to ACEC WI
- Demonstrates commitment to the democratic process
- Enhances the image of the consulting engineer and ACEC WI
- Invests in pro-business candidates
- Positions the industry on state/local regulations and legislation
- Gives the industry a stronger voice with elected state representatives
- Develops and maintains political relationships
- Puts ACEC WI and its members on an even footing with competing interests
- Tool for political involvement

ACEC PAC

*Political Involvement -
Key to the Engineering Industry's Future*

- Supports federal races
- Contributions directed by ACEC national
- Harnesses the independent giving power of ACEC members to support the industry's agenda in Congress
- Influences federal funding and legislation
- Enhances the image of the consulting engineer and ACEC
- Invests in pro-business candidates
- Keeps candidates favorable to the consulting engineering industry in office
- Positions the industry on federal regulations and legislation
- Develops and maintains political relationships
- Puts ACEC and its members on an even footing with competing interests
- Leverages influence of the most politically active individual members

For more information, contact: ACEC WI 3 S Pinckney Street, Suite 800 • Madison, WI 53703 • 608-257-9223 • www.acecwi.org
ACEC 1015 15th St, 8th Floor, NW • Washington, DC 20005-2605 • 202-347-7474 • www.acec.org